

East And West Will Discuss Nuclear Treaty

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster leaves for Geneva tonight and an apparently forlorn attempt to bring about an East-West treaty to outlaw nuclear testing.

Although the United States offered another concession on its stand, the Soviet Union refused Friday to increase its offer of two or three on-site inspections, and broke off the three-nation talks. The United States had banked most of its hopes for progress on these three-way discussions.

Thus the stage was set for an expected propaganda battle in the full 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference. Foster planned to present the U.S. case there. Friday night, the United States disclosed it had told the Soviets it might agree to only seven on-the-spot inspections a year provided the Russians agree to "meaningful" inspection procedures.

In the test talks which have been running on and off since 1958, the United States originally sought around 20 inspections a year. Supporters of the push for a treaty say scientific detection advanced have allowed the West to lower its proposed figures—first to eight to ten and now to seven—without actually lessening the safeguards against cheating.

The new U.S. figure was contained in a statement approved by President Kennedy and issued by the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency following the day's developments at Geneva.

Even if the Reds do an about face and agree to the latest U.S. demands, a test ban treaty could face rough going in the U.S. Senate. A two-thirds Senate majority is required to ratify American adherence to a treaty.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, has served notice that any pact providing fewer than eight on-site inspections a year could face difficulty winning Senate approval. A number of senators say the figure should be higher than that.

Hijacking Is World Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt, nearing the end of a four-day visit in this country, says the hijacking of a Venezuelan freighter by pro-Castro forces was a worldwide problem.

He declined to say, however, whether he will appeal either to the United Nations Security Council or the World Court if Brazil refuses to hand over the hijackers.

Betancourt, who came here Thursday after conferring with President Kennedy in Washington, faced a busy schedule today—his 55th birthday.

Venezuelan newsmen planned a birthday party and the presentation to Betancourt of a dog to replace a pet that died some months ago.

Betancourt planned to place a wreath at the Central Park statue of Latin-American liberator Simon Bolivar, and make a helicopter flight to Tarrytown, N.Y., for luncheon with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at the governor's estate.

The Venezuelan president goes to Miami, Fla., tonight and Saturday goes on to Mexico City. Police there are keeping a close watch on restless leftists to head off any demonstration that might mar his visit.

Betancourt, at a news conference Thursday after a diplomatic luncheon for him and secretary-General U Thant, said his government had started negotiations with Brazil for return of the nine hijackers who seized the freighter Anzotegui.

He described the hijackers as publicity seekers and not political refugees and said their action contravenes any country with the possibility of an act of piracy being committed against it for the sole purpose of attracting publicity.

Another JFK Program Has Dim Chance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's medical care program, given to congress, won't receive the general dearness which has settled over Washington like an umbrella. It will just add to it.

It will be just one more program wrapped up by Kennedy and handed to Congress, with the chance dim, indeed, for anything coming of it.

January and February this year have been the two dullest opening months of any year in a long time, even though Kennedy's Democrats outnumber the Republicans as they did in 1962 and 1961 and for years before that.

At least the President can claim credit for prophecy when, despite the size of his party's margin, he said last Dec. 17 all his controversial proposals would be "closely contested."

Nothing better illustrates the stalemate in the Capital and the Capitol than what's happening in the Senate. It has done practically nothing and shows no signs of doing anything any time soon.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield Wednesday complained bitterly to his fellow-senators for "demeaning ourselves" by wasting six weeks squabbling instead of legislating.

The early weeks were consumed in a fruitless fight between the out-numbered liberals of both parties and the Southern Democrats, with the former trying to change the rules to make it easier to shut off a Southern filibuster. This has been tried so many times, and failed so often with the outcome always predictable, that it has become a kind of traditional tribal dance. That fight finished for 1963.

Now the senators have themselves boxed in on another dispute, this time about procedure and committee assignments. Sen. Mansfield will have to be a very powerful medicine man to get his Senate braves on the legislative path.

Kennedy has so far sent two major programs to Congress, one a gigantic combination calling for tax cuts and tax reforms, all in one package, and the other proposing federal aid to education practically clear across the board.

At first Kennedy said his tax program was needed to stimulate consumer buying and business investment. Then, as if having second thoughts, he said it was also needed to prevent a recession.

This program, as we expected, has been hit from all directions by special interest groups. The whole business became more complicated, and therefore looked more unworkable, by the marriage of cuts and revisions.

A sort of indifference has enveloped Kennedy's huge education program from the start. It's a 24-point aid proposal for the nation's schools from grammar grades up through graduate school and even private colleges and universities.

Last year Kennedy's medical care program—for which he did almost no public fighting except for one off-the-cuff broadcast from Madison Square Garden—landed in the soup.

There's no reason the one going to Congress won't land in the same moist grave, along with the education program, since Kennedy before Congress even came back this year expressed skepticism about both their chances.

While Congress has been blocking traffic, there have been no police sirens from the White House, either.

Souvenir Shell Kills Farm Youth

BEAVER DAM, Wis. (AP)—A military mortar shell, kept as a souvenir, exploded in the hands of a youth Thursday night, killing him and starting a fire that destroyed his home.

The victim was Ricky Dunham, about 15, one of 10 children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunham.

The other nine children escaped before flames engulfed the residence.

Washington's Great Name Was None Other Than the Famous Augustus H. Garland

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Because yesterday was the birthday of our country's greatest, the Arkansas community highlighted this month will be the one bearing his name, Washington.

Many of the historical facts of this community's past have been called to the attention of the general public since the organization of the Pioneer Washington Foundation. The Bowie knife and plans for the Republic of Texas were both created in this Southwest Arkansas community.

But who was Washington's greatest "name"? The Arkansas Centennial Edition of the "Hope Star" said in 1936 that Augustus H. Garland fit that description. Brief research will prove that true. He was known far and wide as the most brilliant man in the legal profession in his day. Even Gladstone, the great British statesman, acknowledged that.

Though born in Tennessee, Gus Garland came to Arkansas with his parents when a mere infant. He grew to manhood and spent his life on Arkansas soil, with the exception of the few years of his public service in Washington, D. C.

When the family first came to Arkansas, they settled on Red River near what is now Garland (mistakenly called Garland City by many). Living on a farm there and on one at Springfield preceded their move to Washington when Gus was 10 or 12 years old.

Washington offered the advantages of schools, and Gus soon showed marked intelligence, outstripping his classmates in learning at the Washington Male Academy. He and his brother, Rufus, attended college in Kentucky and completed their education at Oxford University in England. Garland was admitted to the bar in the old courthouse in Washington, where his first cases were recorded.

During the period of post-Civil War days known as reconstruction (a misnomer in most of the South), Augustus H. Garland did his best to right the wrongs he could see being done. In 1872, when Arkansas was thrown into virtually a state of revolution over the fight for governor between Republicans Brooks and Baxter, Garland supported Baxter, the lesser of two evils, so to speak. But three years later, when the smoke had cleared more completely, Garland found himself in the governor's seat.

This master of strategy in the Brooks-Baxter crisis was also well-known for his sense of humor. No one seemed to enjoy a hearty laugh more than he. When a boy he never let his play fellows get the best of him, and he was always playing pranks on somebody.

From lawyer to governor to Attorney General was the story of Augustus H. Garland's career. In 1885 President Grover Cleveland appointed him to the latter position. He was the only Arkansan to hold a cabinet post until the more recent appointment of Frank Pace.

Augustus H. Garland died in Washington, D. C., July 26, 1899. In conversation with one of his friends and colleagues a short time before his death, he said that "nothing would please me better when my time comes than to die in the midst of an argument." His death occurred while making a speech before the Supreme Court of the United States. The last words he uttered were: "My contention is"—the sentence was never finished; he was stricken with apoplexy. He had said when he was a boy that his ambition was to be Attorney General of the United States. His ambition was realized.

(Much of the material in this article was compiled by the late Chaelean Moss Williams, whose father was a life-long friend of Mr. Garland.)

Rice Trustees Seeking to Intergrate

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Trustees of Rice University, created by bequest of a murdered millionaire, asked court authority Thursday to lift racial bars against qualified students.

Their petition asked Judge Phil Peden for permission to abandon a free tuition policy.

Their petition said Rice must be freed from the two restrictions if it is to become one of the world's leading universities.

Known as one of the nation's toughest schools academically, the university limits enrollment. William Marsh Rice, in his will, created the university "for the instruction and improvement of white inhabitants" and directed that there be no tuition.

Trustees proposed that the word "white" not be construed as creating an inflexible barrier to the admission of qualified students without regard to race or color. They asked that the word "free" not be construed to forbid reasonable tuition.

"Rice stands alone as the last nonsectarian private university in the south and in the nation which has not admitted, or does not stand ready to admit, qualified applicants without regard to race or color," the petition said.

It added that the trustees know of no other private university of comparable status which does not charge tuition. Rising faculty and research costs require tuition, the petition said.

Rice, a native of Springfield, Mass., came to Houston penniless and built a fortune in land and lumber. He was 84 when he was slain in his New York City apartment Sept. 23, 1900.

Can Surpass All, Russians Brag

MOSCOW (AP)—Military commanders of the Soviet Union declared today they can match or surpass any weapon possessed abroad.

Marshals and admirals wrote articles in all papers in advance of Saturday's Armed Forces Day, the 45th anniversary of the formation of the first Communist fighting force in the Soviet Union.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bids will be opened by Army Engineers March 27 for bank stabilization work at Sample Island in the Arkansas River southwest of Gillett.

The work includes 5,180 feet of stonewall and 1,060 feet of pile dikes. Engineers estimated cost of the project at $300,000.

U.S. Willing to Concede More

WASHINGTON (AP)—American disarmament chief William C. Foster has indicated the United States would be willing to further scale down the number of on-site inspections it has been insisting upon in test ban talks with the Soviet Union.

But he made clear the United States will make no further concessions along this line unless it first has "a clear understanding of the set of principles governing on-site inspection procedures and methods which will insure that each on-site inspection can be meaningful."

Behind the closed doors of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined U.S. methods for carrying out American policy toward Cuba.

Afterward committee chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said McNamara had "made it very clear that we are pursuing a policy that will result in the elimination of Castroism and communism from Cuba." But Russell declined to go into details on the grounds they are classified.

McNamara also assured the committee, Russell said, that U.S. planes will shoot down any Cuban-based MIGs that attack American ships or installations.

He said the question of retaliation had come up in a discussion with McNamara of the Cuban MIG attack on an American shrimp boat.

Scotting at the Soviet suggestion that any U.S. move on Cuba might touch off another world war, Russell said, "I do not believe that the Russians are 10 feet tall. I hope we can avoid any nuclear war because it would kill tens of millions of Americans while we are eliminating them."

Malinovsky claimed that the Soviet Union can "wipe off the earth all targets, industrial and administrative-political centers of the United States." He said it can "destroy completely the countries which have made available their territories for American war bases."

Russell called it "blast and bluster" and said Soviet Premier Khrushchev's decision to withdraw missiles and bombers from Cuba proved "we now have superior nuclear delivery systems."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana found nothing new in the Soviet threats. But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the Russians should be answered and indicated he might have more to say on that score later.

Washington Is Honored at Paisley

The Fifth Grade of Paisley School had charge of a Assembly program Friday afternoon. The program was opened with all classes singing "American the Beautiful" and "American."

The Fifth grade has been studying about George Washington and each member of the class wrote an essay on Washington. The four best ones were selected and read at this time. Those reading their essays were: Philip Watkins, Philip Capt, Mary Alice Ray, and Virginia Moody. A carol reading group composed of the fifth grade read "Father of the Land we Love."

Mrs. Muriel Dickenson on behalf of the Junior Auxiliary of the American Legion Auxiliary presented an American flag to the school. The flag was given to the Fourth grade to be used in their room. Jimmy Langston excepted the flag for the Fourth grade. The entire group then pledged the allegiance to the flag.

U.S. Officials Say Threat Is Red Bluster

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Apparently unimpressed, official Washington has shrugged off the new Soviet missile flexing over Cuba as "blast and bluster" propaganda.

The threats from Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky were regarded as blood-and-thunder morale builders—both for at home and for Fidel Castro's regime.

In a Moscow speech Friday, marking the eve of the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces, the Red marshal warned that if Americans attack Cuba, it will mean a third world war and nuclear devastation for the United States.

The usual type of oratory "you expect on the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces," said Secretary of State Dean Rusk. But speechmaking, he added, isn't going to change "the combination of forces in the world."

Behind the closed doors of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara outlined U.S. methods for carrying out American policy toward Cuba.

Afterward committee chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said McNamara had "made it very clear that we are pursuing a policy that will result in the elimination of Castroism and communism from Cuba." But Russell declined to go into details on the grounds they are classified.

Gambling Did Flourish at One Time

WEST BADEN, Ind. (AP)—The click of rosary beads has replaced the clack of dice at the hostelry which once made West Baden a mecca for thousands.

The plush little world of the West Baden Springs Hotel began to crumble Oct. 29, 1929. News of the stock market crash sent its rich, dice-tossing clientele scurrying for home.

Patrons at the 700-room hotel—built around a domed Pompeian court—ranged from the idle rich to "Scarface Al" Capone, who drove over the brick streets through the grounds in his armored car.

The circular brick building, its dome rearing 130 feet amid the southern Indiana hills, still stands. But the roulette wheels and dice tables are gone, and the mineral springs which attracted thousands are plugged.

No women are allowed where diamond and fur-draped society matrons once strolled the circular halls.

Those who stroll these halls now are black-clad men—many reading or meditating.

The yellow brick building houses West Baden College, the school of philosophy and theology for Jesuits of the Chicago and Detroit provinces studying for the Roman Catholic priesthood.

Nearly 300 prospective priests spend seven of their 15 years of study after high school here.

The hotel was the dream of Lee W. Sinclair, who decreed it should be circular and support the world's widest dome. He saw that dream come true on June 14, 1902, when the first customers registered.

The dome, which remained the largest in the world for 40 years, contains 120 tons of steel. The building contains 237,720 square feet of floor space on its six floors.

In 1902, that cost Sinclair $414,000. Sinclair died in 1916 and his heirs sold the resort to Charles Edward Ballard, a West Baden man who had owned two other large hotels and the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

Under Ballard's management, the hotel attracted more conventions and used gambling more extensively as a come-on.

Ballard closed the hotel in July, 1932, and began looking for a buyer. He dropped the price to $350,000—one-tenth the assessed valuation—with no luck.

On Feb. 7, 1934, Ballard met with the Rev. Hugo O. Stoenmeyer, Jesuit and president of Xavier University, and donated the building and furnishings to the society.

Tax Program Is Surveyed By Congress

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's tax program is still undergoing congressional diagnosis and is yet to be wheeled into the operating room. But already one critical item has been marked for major surgery.

And with it may go some of the proposed tax reductions.

This item is the proposal to put a floor under personal deductions like interest, local taxes and charitable contributions. It would allow deductions only to the extent their total exceeds 5 per cent of income.

No member of the House Ways and Means Committee, now considering the tax package, has publicly spoken up for this provision, advanced by the administration to recoup some of the revenue that would be lost by cutting tax rates. On the contrary, several members have predicted this will be among the first to go when the committee starts writing a bill in a month or so.

The tax-writing group begins taking public testimony on this proposal Monday. The witness list reflects the opposition of philanthropic groups, who already have been writing members that the provision would dry up contributions. Real estate and building interests, concerned with the effect of a change that would diminish present tax incentives to home-owning, are another potent source of opposition.

Yet the deductions floor is a big item in the over-all administration tax plan, which envisages reducing rates enough to cut the government income tax take $13.6 billion a year eventually, but recouping $3.3 billion through structural tax changes that would tax some income more heavily than now.

Of the $3.3 billion recovery, a full $2.3 billion would be provided by the 5 per cent deduction floor.

Beep Was Life Sound for Woman

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—The machine was an electric sentinel that sometimes produced painful shocks, but its steady "beep" was the sound of life to a woman whose heart stopped five times.

"The Lord has been with me," said Catherine Guntrup, 53, of Corning.

She told newsmen Thursday at Binghamton General Hospital how open-heart massage, an electric machine and surgeons' skill kept her alive during and after surgery last October.

The woman's heart stopped while she was undergoing a gall bladder operation, said Dr. Jason K. Moyer, hospital medical director.

Opening the chest wall, surgeons quickly applied open heart massage. The heart restarted. The operation was discontinued and Mrs. Guntrup was removed to a special care section of the hospital.

Then she met her electric guardian. Doctors attached to her heart a device called a pacemaker. It "beeps" in conjunction with the heart when attached to a patient.

If the heart stops beating, the machine automatically shoots a pulsating current through the patient until the heart begins to beat again.

Four times during Mrs. Guntrup's eight days in the hospital, the machine jolted her heart back to life.

"I wanted to hear it go," Mrs. Guntrup said of the machine, "because I felt it was responsible for my being alive. When you get a shock, it makes your whole body quiver, but after a while I felt it wasn't so bad."

She is back at work now at the credit bureau in Corning, which she operates with her husband, Wilfred.

Statement About Strike Is Echoed

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy, saying the 77-day New York newspaper blackout "has long since passed the point of public toleration," urges quick appointment of an impartial umpire to settle the dispute.

Kennedy's call for an end to the impasse, at his news conference in Washington Thursday, was echoed by members of the New York Newspaper Guild, AFO-CIO, in a stormy session Thursday night.

Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union struck four of the city's nine major newspapers last Dec. 3, and the others shut down.

Guild members voted overwhelmingly a resolution asking Mayor Robert F. Wagner to recommend a settlement by next Thursday.

A spokesman for Wagner, who has been trying to resolve the dispute since Jan. 26, said the mayor will study the resolution and "comment on it at an appropriate time."

New York publishers accepted President Kennedy's impasse idea. Kennedy told newsmen concerning the negotiations: "Collective bargaining has failed."

"In my view," the President said, "one solution of this prolonged strike, if no immediate progress is made, would be for the striking printers, companies and other involved unions to submit their differences to independent determination of some kind."

"It is clear in the case of the New York newspaper strike that the local of the International Typographical Union and its president, Bertram Powers, insofar as anyone can understand his position are attempting to impose a settlement which can shut down several newspapers in New York and throw thousands out of work."

The strike has idled 20,000 newspaper employees, including 3,000 printers and 6,800 guildsmen.

Powers' response was: "I think the President has been ill-advised. I know he is a busy man and I do not know the source of his information concerning the negotiations but he apparently has been ill-advised. Nobody can tell me there is anything in our demands that is unreasonable."

White House to Call in Newsmen

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House is inviting representatives of all news-gathering media to an unprecedented April conference that could turn into a donnybrook over the Kennedy administration's public information policies.

The session will be held at a private retreat near Warrenton, Va., April 5-6, it was learned today. Arrangements are being made by Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary.

Informed sources said the conference was prompted in part by the fact that several associations representing news media have adopted formal resolutions criticizing federal information practices.

This does not mean, however, that the meeting will be a one-way affair—with newsmen leveling all of the criticism.

There is reason to believe the administration hopes not only to rebut the anticipated criticism but to let loose with some complaints of its own—against the press.

This is why the conference might well develop into a battle royal.

The meeting will be held at Airline House, a retreat in the Virginia hunt country which often has been the site of high-level "brainstorming" sessions involving private groups.

Criticism of the Kennedy administration's information policies was heightened last Oct. 30 when Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, told reporters the Pentagon controlled news as a weapon during the Cuban crisis.

"News flowing from actions taken by the government is part of the weaponry," said Sylvester, who will be one of the participants in the Warrenton meeting.

Following this statement, the phrase "Manager on news" gained wide currency.

The President, an avid reader of newspapers, is known to feel that the various news media sometimes are unfair to the administration.

Against this background, it is not difficult to envision a heated battle between administration officials and media representatives at the Warrenton session.

Along with Salinger and Sylvester, government representatives will include: Robert J. Manning, assistant secretary of state for public affairs; George Reedy, administrative assistant to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson; Edwin Guthman, public affairs assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy; and Dixon Donnelley, public affairs assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Nine organizations representing various news media have been asked to submit suggestions for a conference agenda and to name one or two representatives to attend.

They are: American Society of Newspaper Editors, American Newspaper Publishers Association, National Association of Broadcasters, National Editorial Association, Magazine Publishers Association, Radio-Television News Directors Association, White House Correspondents Association, State Department Correspondents Association, and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

A number of these organizations it was understood, have sought individual meetings to discuss information policies with Salinger and others.

Van Dalsem Blocks Rockefeller Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Action on a proposed House resolution praising Winthrop Rockefeller was blocked today by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem.

Speaker Marion Crank declared the morning hour expired after Van Dalsem announced that he intended to filibuster against immediate consideration of the resolution.

Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr., author of the proposal, objected in vain to the speaker's ruling which carries the matter over until Monday.

The resolution is designed to head off a bill to oust Rockefeller from the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission by reorganizing the agency. This bill has been drafted but not introduced.

Cottrell's resolution would put the House on record as endorsing Rockefeller's performance as chairman of the AIDC, and stating that it does not intend to be a party to any move to oust him.

Van Dalsem said he wanted to amend the resolution and he intended to talk until the amendment could be adopted.

"I want to praise motherhood and the Republican party," Van Dalsem said.

There has been some discontent among legislators because Rockefeller, as head of the Arkansas Republican Party, scouted up opponents for about 20 of them in the last general election.

Dubious Over Proposals for NATO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several members of the Key Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee said today the group is dubious about proposals for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization nuclear force.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., told a reporter the joint committee has indicated its feelings against such a plan numerous times.

"We don't feel like proliferating these weapons," he said.

Other members who asked that their names not be used said that has been the position of the committee consistently.

However, one key member cautioned that no one should draw the conclusion that any program presented by President Kennedy for such a force would be rejected.

"That would present a new set of circumstances which would have to be looked at very carefully," he said.

The committee received a secret briefing this week from Ambassador Livingston T. Merchant, who left for Europe today to explore possibilities of a NATO nuclear force.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., the committee chairman, said no commitments were asked and that none were given at this session.

"It was just an explanation of what they propose to try to do and we had an exchange of views on it," he said.

Pastore said the President had given assurances that any agreement reached would be submitted to Congress in some way. Kennedy reiterated this at his news conference Thursday.

Merchant is expected to suggest to U.S. allies that they use surface vessels, rather than submarines, in the first phase of the proposed program for use of Polaris missiles.

Although France has declined to accept Kennedy's Polaris offer, Merchant is basing his European visit at Paris because that is the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although the United States uses nuclear-powered submarines as its main vehicle for the nuclear-warhead Polaris missile, recent Washington thinking has shifted to the possibility of using surface vessels as the initial Polaris mainstay for NATO partners joining in the program.

Faubus to Sign Truck Weight Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said he would sign the truck weight bill later today, and another effort will be made next week to get a companion license fee bill through the house.

Faubus has both senate and House versions of the weight bill on his desk.

Faubus said he would sign any kind of license fee bill that the legislature passes.

Under consideration is a bill to boost revenues from trucks weighing more than 50,000 pounds by about $320,000 a year.

Jefferson County Representative Jess Walt is trying to amend the bill to boost the fees by $1.5 million a year.

The weight bill boosts the truck weight limit from 64,000 pounds to 73,280.

Dr. Anders' Dilemma By Henry and Sylvia Lieferant

THE STORY: David Anders has arranged to meet Nancy Horton at the museum on their day off. Both of them realize they are breaking the hospital rules against the dating of interns and nurses.

CHAPTER VI

Nevertheless at 2:30 David walked around the hall of the di-nosaurs in The Museum of Natural History, pretending to be vaguely interested while watching the door for Nancy.

She came, appearing quite suddenly in the doorway as if materialized out of the marble. He had forgotten how beautiful she was, how softly she walked, how refreshing the splendid alignment of her moving body. Through the giant ribs of one of the fantastic beasts he watched her approach until she stopped at the left fore foot, and then he emerged from behind the rear toe.

"Nancy!"

"I did have to go to Jersey—honestly. But it was raining so hard, I called my aunt up and I thought maybe you would be here anyway and so I got my umbrella—and—"

She wore a white semitransparent raincoat and a hat to match. Through the frostiness of the coat, her tangerine colored dress gleamed brightly. On a day when most women would look bedraggled, Nancy was fruit wrapped in cellophane, spicy and untouchable.

They strolled around. Once Nancy made a face at the serpent like skull of the brontosaurus. Then David staged about of shadowboxing with a skeleton reared on powerful hind legs and baring murderous teeth.

"You wouldn't do that to him if he were alive," she challenged.

"I would—for you, Nancy."

"Then leave me alone, Davey. That ought to be easier than fighting dragons. Why can't you understand that when I've scrubbed floors and cleaned bathrooms, when I've learned to steel myself to wounds and blood and suffering—I can't endanger the experience of all these dreary days and nights—for—"

"For love" he supplied.

"Love didn't mean anything to you a few weeks ago."

"A few weeks ago. This is—now."

She drew in her lower lip. "Not until I have my pin, cap and diploma."

He took her arm abruptly. Their bodies collided. To steady her, he put his arm about her shoulder. She seized his lapel, and as if she had touched fire, she sprang away. Wordlessly they walked out of the room, wandered down a hall and found themselves at the entrance to the Planetarium.

"This is what we need," David said, "starlight and a moon on a rainy day. In we go."

Nancy could not seem to abide by a single resolution she had made.

"Now this, Miss Horton, is a meteorite of iron. Smelted down and polished, it would make a first rate implement for pressing neatly monogrammed kitchen towels."

"Oh, Davey—don't!"

"Here we have a meteorite in which a comet laid eggs. Neat—"

We wish to express our thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us during the loss of our loved one. We deeply appreciate each floral offering, the food, and especially the prayers and encouragement at a time when friends mean so much.

little trick, eh The eggs are old, of course, but by a secret process they can be restored to stock the Anders larder."

Davey, don't go on that way! "And here, my Nancy, is a meteorite studded with diamonds. Do you know why I went up there ages ago and hauled it through space, so you could have your jewels. Other men buy rings in stores. You'll have this for your ring. It's all I have to offer—but they're genuine diamonds."

Davey, help me do what I know I must!

Later, rediscovering the cafe where they had sat the week before, David told her briefly about Bascomb's offer, his struggle between medicine and surgery, and the conversation with Thorne.

Nancy listened with all her faculties, a quality which David had noticed from the beginning, and looked directly into his eyes when he talked. "I'm not smart enough to advise you, Davey."

"Answer one question, Nancy. Did you ask Thorne to speak to me again?"

"What makes you think I would ask Tony Thorne to do something for you?"

David's mind made a quick elision, a lightning deduction. "So he's Tony Thorne to you Thorne's man!"

Hot color stained her face. She was furious at the betrayal, he cause she had no one to blame but herself.

"You haven't any right to feel anything against him," she protested. "He's been a friend—a real one. He used to come over and chat with Dad when he was at Camwell."

"He's in love with you."

"I can't talk for him, and I'm not crazy enough to talk for you—to him."

Her last words convinced and stung him. "Nancy! I love you."

"Tell that to Dr. Cornish. Davey—" She put out her hand and caught at his across the table. The tight pressure of her fingers twisted his heart.

Wants Revision of Bible Stories

LONDON (AP)—Anne Hopkinson, mother of six and a wife of a director of the Industrial Christian Fellowship, wants new prayers which will reflect the world of 1963.

She says the Bible stories of men and women who grew their own food mean little to children today, and she offers this as an example of her idea for new prayers:

"Thank God for the food we eat, 'The tinned soup and processed meat."

"Thank God for my plastic boat, 'The telly and my nylon coat."

"Telly" is television.

Three Sons May Get a New Father

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Thomas has had a couple of television wives, "Lassie" has had two mistresses. Now it looks as though "My Three Sons" may soon get a new father.

The ABC comedy series has been renewed for another season starting next fall—but without Fred MacMurray, the busy film star who has been playing the widower father of three boys.

This case of the missing star will differ somewhat from the Danny Thomas or Lassie situation. MacMurray is the big name of the show, so substitution may not be the ideal solution—at least from the viewers' side.

One alternative is that which is sometimes used in the daytime serials when a member of the cast departs. The writer sends the character on a long journey. And when he returns weeks, sometimes months, later, he has changed. MacMurray's character, Steve Douglas, is an ideal candidate for the long journey treatment. He's an engineer so an assignment of long duration—perhaps building a dam in one of the remote emerging nations—would be logical.

The series is comedy, so that favorite device of soap operas to dispatch an irreplaceable character is obviously out. They positively cannot kill him off.

MacMurray's association with the show has presented production

Woman Walks 50 Miles in 10 Hours

NEWBURY, England (AP)—Dr. Barbara Moore today pounded along 50 miles of roadway exactly in 10 hours. She announced she had done it all in support of President Kennedy's physical fitness campaign.

Dr. Moore, now 60, marched across America—coast to coast—in 1960.

problems because he contracted to work only for a few months each year in view of his busy motion picture schedule. The sequences in which he appears in each episode are shot during his TV working periods and then fitted into the programs as required by the various plots.

If Garry Moore has room for another regular on his Tuesday night variety show, it would be great if he'd sign Jonathan Winters. The comedian was hilarious last week.

Disc Jockey's Attempt Ended

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A Phoenix disc jockey's attempt to find the city's most disliked teacher ended abruptly.

Frank Flynn, general manager for station KRIZ, said Thursday he ordered the program off the air as soon as it was brought to his attention.

He said the disc jockey was Rob Randall.

The Arizona Education Association filed a complaint with the Federal Communications Commission.

School officials said the names of at least three teachers were aired Wednesday on the radio station.

Has First Contact With Planet Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Scientists say they established first radar contact with the planet Mars by transmitting a 25-billion watt signal.

By the time the signal finished its 125-million-mile round trip all that returned was one billionth of one trillionth of a watt. The rest was dissipated in space.

But what remained was enough to indicate Mars has both rough and smooth surfaces, similar to those of the earth and moon.

The California Institute of Technology said Thursday that scientists at its Jet Propulsion Laboratory made the first contact Jan. 21 from the Goldstone Tracking Station in the California desert. The announcement was delayed to permit time for data analysis.

The Mars experiment will continue 12 hours a day until early March, when the planet will move out of radar range.

On Feb. 2, when the planet made its closest approach, the signal took 11.1 minutes to travel to Mars and back.

The contact on Jan. 21 was the longest in distance ever achieved until Thursday when signals from Goldstone were bounced off the planet Venus in a 180-million-mile round trip. However, this contact was much simpler than the Mars signal transmission.

Birdseye Plans Expansion

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Plans for expansion of the new Birdseye Frozen Foods Plant here were announced Thursday during ceremonies formally dedicating the plant.

Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Corporation, and Arnold Sikes, executive secretary to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, spoke.

They confined their remarks to congratulations for city and plant officials.

Faubus was to have attended the dedication, but was ill.

E. W. Kelly, vice president and general manager of the Birdseye Division of General Foods, announced plans for a 25 per cent expansion of the plant, but did not elaborate.

$916,357 for Books

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Education Department reported Thursday $916,357 was paid or 562,405 elementary textbooks for Arkansas schools last year. The state legislature appropriated $1 million for the textbooks, of which $60,000 was reserved for emergency expenditures and $5,808 went for library books.

New Nuclear Sub Is Launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The nuclear submarine Thomas Jefferson has successfully launched a Polaris missile.

The Jefferson became Thursday the 10th submarine to launch a Polaris in test and training exercises here. Later this year it will join the nine earlier craft on operational patrol, each with 16 of the potentially deadly missiles.

The submarine unleashed the rocket while cruising submerged in the Atlantic Ocean southeast of Cape Canaveral. The rocket, the 1,725-mile-range A2 model, sprang to the surface and sped several hundred miles down range.

...about Moons and Ministers

This is the day of man-made moons and other outer-space objects. First man reached for the clouds, then the stratosphere and now he is reaching for the moon. The very thought of these accomplishments "rattles" our nerves, makes us weak and an unexplainable nausea sets in. We think what next? But only one thing we know. God said, "Be ready, for we know not the day nor the hour." The day may be near when your account will be checked. Your record will reveal what your interests have been. Whether you have supported His church or helped a needy soul will be made known. Above, you see a severe storm with broken clouds lighted by lightning flashes. But what makes it worse . . . there goes a man-made moon. All this strange phenomenon makes it very clear that we should be about the Master's business . . . we should be ready . . . we should attend church.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the non-material are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCHGOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

So They May See == Psalm 27 == So They May Hear

THE LORD IS MY LIGHT and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

2. When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3. Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear; though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.

4. One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple.

5. For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock.

6. And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the Lord.

HEAR, O LORD, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also upon me, and answer me.

8. When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, Lord, will I seek.

9. Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

10. When my father and my mother forsake me, then the Lord will take me up.

11. Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.

12. Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.

13. I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.

14. Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord.
